

Dedalus identified as EHR vendor with most contracted beds outside the US for 3 consecutive years by KLAS Research

Milan (Italy), 17 July 2025 - Dedalus is a leading Global Health Software (HealthTech) Company and one of the world's largest companies in Digital Health. It offers open standards-based solutions across the whole continuum of care.

According to the newly published Global Acute Care EHR Market Share 2025 by KLAS Research, Dedalus continued its strong momentum in 2024, marking its second-best year in the past five. A total of 24 organizations across 8 countries in Europe and Latin America selected Dedalus solutions, contributing to the highest number of newly contracted beds for the third consecutive year. This performance also positioned Dedalus among the global leaders in inpatient hospital activity, including outside and within the United States. According to KLAS data, Dedalus now serves 1,848 inpatient hospitals globally, which are located outside the United States. This places Dedalus as the third-largest EHR vendor worldwide in terms of total inpatient hospital presence, highlighting the company's expanding international footprint and competitive strength in a highly consolidated market.

Securing nearly twice as many newly contracted beds as the next-highest competitor, Dedalus had the strongest year of any EHR vendor in 2024. This exceptional growth reflects the trust placed in Dedalus by healthcare organizations across Europe and Latin America, and underscores the scalability and adaptability of its EHR platforms.

"2024 has been a landmark year for us at Dedalus. We're proud to lead the market in EHR adoption, with nearly twice as many newly contracted beds as any other vendor. Our growth across eight countries reflects the trust healthcare organizations across the globe place in our solutions. Particularly in the DACH region and France, we had strong momentum and multiple regional health organizations chose to move forward with our Care4U/ORBIS platform. And we are particularly excited to welcome our first ORBIS U customers in the UK, marking a significant milestone as we expand into English-speaking markets,” said Alberto Calcagno, CEO of Dedalus Group.
