

Dedalus and ENTOMO Sign Agreement for AMEA Business Transition

Milan (Italy), 23 July 2025 — Dedalus announces a significant strategic milestone with the signing of an agreement to sell its operations in Asia, Middle East and Africa (specifically in Singapore, Thailand, Malaysia, Brunei, UAE, Saudi, Egypt) to ENTOMO, a leading technology company specializing in digital transformation across healthcare, the public sector, and enterprise markets.

Founded in 2010, ENTOMO has established itself as a pioneer in delivering innovative digital solutions mainly throughout Asia Pacific and the Middle East. Its healthcare platform, Adea Health, powers transformative initiatives in digital patient engagement, outbreak management, and large-scale health system digitization infrastructure supporting over 32 million users.

In addition to healthcare, ENTOMO's AI-powered People Experience platform enables global enterprises to enhance employee performance, talent development, and productivity with users in over 38 countries.

"For the regional activities, this is a strategic step forward," said Alberto Calcagno, CEO of Dedalus Group. "Entomo brings deep regional expertise, sharper market insights, and a strong commitment to investing in our people and products. Their focus on these geographies positions them ideally to accelerate the momentum we've built and unlock new opportunities for growth and innovation. In the coming weeks we'll work with entomo leadership team to define a smooth transition plan to support the deal closing".
